We Are Selling Women's Suits and Coats Faster Than Ever.

The reason is easy. Come! See the garments, examine them, try a few on, price them. Why we are selling Suits and Coats faster than ever before WILL BE SELF EVIDENT. This year we have fortunately allied ourselves with a few garment manufacturers who are the acknowledged peers of their craft. Their garments possess 100 per cent more of style and quality and good workmanship than the average manufacturers'.

And our policy of more of sales and less of profit allows us to sell the very best garments in this vicinity at prices less than others charge for inferior sorts. Choice is wide—of course. A few interesting items of the many we might print:

There's Safety in Buying Dress Goods Here—Savings, Too.

THAT new dress, waist, or suit fabric must possess merit, it must not shrink or sag, it must not fade or turn rusty, it must not weaken or tear—else the price of the fabric, the cost of making and the trouble of selecting, buying, and fitting will all be lost. The satisfactory buying of a fabric isn't just going in a store and saying: "Give me ten yards of this." Such buying may result satisfactorily sometimes, but it's liable to result otherwise. The best way—the right way—your way—is to go to a store that sells only dependable, worthy, fashionable fabrics—a store that will sell no other kind—a store like this.

ARMY AND NAVY NEWS

Amending the Dick Militia Bill.

A committee from the Interstate National Guard commission is coming to Washington the 12th of next month to confer with Acting Secretary Oliver of the War Department and members of the general staff regarding some proposed amendments to the Dick militia law which the association is anxious to obtain. Under the provisions of that law National Guard organizations in order to continue and enjoy its benefits after the coming spring must conform to the regular army organization. Some of the organizations of the militia are not yet strong enough to make it practicable to conform to the law and for that reason they are anxious to have the time extended in which they may recruit their strength. In some sections of the country there is a sentiment favoring the repeal of that provision of the Dick law which prohibits the sending of the militia beyond the coast and also of that section which restricts the service under the call to arms of the militia to nine months. Whatever modifications may be agreed upon by the committee and the representatives of the army will be submitted to the National Guard Association at its coming meeting in January before any action is taken by the War Department in the shape of recommendations to Congress.

Promotion of Engineer Officers.

The following-named officers of the Corps of Engineers will report in person to Col. John G. D. Knight, Corps of Engineers, president of the examining board at the army building, New York city, for examination to determine their fitness for promotion: Capt. James L. Jervoy, Capt. Charles W. Kutz, First Lieut. Ernest D. Peck, First Lieut. George R. Spaulding, Second Lieut. Robert S. Thomas, Second Lieut. Roger C. Powell.
Before complying with so much of this order as directs them to proceed to New York city, the officers named will report in person to Maj. William H. Arthur, surgeon, president of the medical board at the general hospital, Washington barracks, November 21, for the required preliminary physical examination, and if found physically qualified will report in person at 2 p.m. on the same date to Maj. Gen. William P. Duvall, general staff, at Fort Myer, for the purpose of undergoing the prescribed test in horsemanship.

More Army and Navy Cadets.

The admission of Oklahoma into the Union of states will increase the number of midshipmen at the Naval Academy from 985 to 997. The increase of cadets at the United States Military Academy is accounted of the new state, however, will be but six, as each senator and rep-representative have only one appointment at the Military Academy, against two at the Naval Academy.

Trials for Four Warships.

Four new vessels are to have their trial trips within a short time. December 11 the battleship Idaho is to have her trip off Idaho breakwater, followed almost immediately by the new battleship New Hampshire on the Rockland course. The cruiser North Carolina is to have her trial trip in midwinter over the Rockland course, and the scout cruiser Chester, the first of the three scouts to be tried, will have her trial run over the Rockland course.

Filling Naval Vacancies.

June 8, 1936, has been announced by the Secretary of the Navy as the date for holding the next examination of candidates for appointment as assistant paymasters in the navy. A slight revision will be made of the general scope of the examination as compared with that of recent years. There are in prospect at least six vacancies by the 1st of June. The names of those who are to appear before the examining board will be announced in due time by the department. Examination, in all probability, will be held at the Washington navy yard.

Improved Naval Marksmanship.

A pamphlet giving the results of recent target practice with small arms, three-inch field pieces and boat guns is being issued to the naval service for its information. It contains figures showing that the average points per man are practically double what they were last year, also that the percentage of men who attained high classification has advanced appreciably over that of last year, an improvement attributable to many causes. The interest taken by men and the officers was a potent influence, an interest largely enhanced by the presence in the fleet of officers and men who had been with the naval rifle team during last year's match. The improvement of collective firing is very marked. The final element of the best ship's crew last year was 34,000; this year it is 46,964.

New Method of Examining Cadets.

An important change has been authorized in the method of determining the physical fitness of young men nominated as cadets at the United States Military Academy. Heretofore these preliminary physical examinations have been held at the military post nearest the home of the nominee or the school attended by him. It has been held that such examinations are not at all uniform and sometimes not sufficiently thorough. Under the new arrangement there will be only five posts where the physical examinations of appointees to West Point will be conducted. These posts are Fort Slocum, N. Y.; Columbus barracks, Ohio; Jefferson barracks, Mo.; Fort Logan, Colo., and the President of San Francisco. The first three named are general recruiting stations, where the medical officers make a specialty of conducting physical examinations of newly enlisted men, and are therefore deemed to be in position to best conduct such examinations.

Warship for Pennsylvania Militia.

The Navy Department has decided to assign the converted yacht Sylvia, now undergoing repairs at the navy yard, New York, to the state of Pennsylvania for the use of the naval militia of that state to take the place of the converted yacht Sylvia, now at Philadelphia, which has been surveyed with a view to its sale to the highest bidder.

Dispensing With Shining Equipments.

The military authorities are engaged in solving the problem of ridding the military equipment of anything which may reflect the sun's rays and so become a trial upon the eyes of the marching soldiers. A more important consideration is the escape from anything which has been surveyed with a view to its sale to the highest bidder.

Street Car Recruiting.

In order to encourage enlistments in the army, the War Department has adopted the plan of advertising in the street cars in the larger cities. The accepted designs of the cards to be displayed in the cars are in the hands of the recruiting officers and will be carried by the methods of storing and packing supplies to ascertain if there may not be a saving in the space occupied by such material on shipboard.

Cannot Be Re-Enlisted.

The acting secretary of war has approved an opinion of the judge advocate general of the army to the effect that the re-enlistment of a soldier whose last honest and faithful service was not followed by a statement of the character of a soldier's service has been made in accordance with the provisions of the law, in the absence of fraud or mistake, under which that record may be altered or amended. Paragraphs 110 and 218, Digest of Opinions of the judge advocate general of the army, relate to cases in which desertion was followed by restoration to duty, good service and honorable discharge in each case. Those paragraphs do not apply to any case in which an offense was not followed by restoration to duty and continuing faithful service on the part of the soldier thereafter, or in which the soldier's enlistment contract was terminated by dishonorable discharge or discharge without honor.

Court at Fort Washington.

A general court-martial is in session at Fort Washington, Md., for the trial of two persons as may be brought before it. The detail for the court is: Capt. William R. Doores, Capt. Philip S. Golderman, Capt. George F. Connolly, Capt. Edward N. Macon, Capt. John L. Roberts, Jr., First Lieut. John P. Terrell, First Lieut. Philip W. Mathews, First Lieut. Horace P. Spurgeon, judge advocate. All the members of the court are attached to the Coast Artillery Corps.
